24	Summary of the Event	The Department of Computer Applications – BCA, under the Coding Club initiative, organized an interclass hackathon titled CODEZENITH 2026 on 14th and 15th October 2026. The event aimed to encourage students to apply their programming knowledge, develop innovative solutions, and enhance their problem-solving and presentation skills. The hackathon was inaugurated on 14th October at 10:00 a.m. in the presence of Deputy Director Dr. Kumudavalli and Dr. Aruna Devi, Head of the Department of BCA. Three problem statements were announced, and students participated in teams of three to develop prototype solutions, demonstrating creativity, logical thinking, and technical skills. The final presentations were held on 15th October at 10:00 a.m., with Dr. Ramya R. S., Associate Professor, Dayananda Sagar College of Engineering, Bengaluru, serving as the judge. Each team presented its solution, demonstrated the prototype, and answered questions from the judge. The teams were evaluated based on logical thinking, clarity of approach, presentation skills, and their ability to explain and justify their solutions. The winners and runners-up were announced during the valedictory session at 3:00 p.m. Certificates and mementos were presented to the winning and runner-up teams in recognition of their achievements. The hackathon provided students with valuable experience in teamwork, innovation, and practical problem-solving.
