23.	Summary of the Event	On May 25, 2023, the Department of Computer Applications at Dayananda Sagar College of Arts, Science and Commerce hosted a technical talk by Dr. Chethan Venkatesh, Associate Professor at R V Institute of Technology and Management, titled "Recipe for Research." Attended by 12 faculty members, the talk covered essential aspects of research, starting with the fundamental question, "What is Research?" Dr. Venkatesh discussed how to stay motivated in research, conduct a comprehensive literature review, and derive a problem statement. He emphasized the process of converting research gaps into problem statements and outlined methods to achieve desired research results. Additionally, he provided strategies for projecting research outcomes effectively. The session concluded with an interactive Q&A, where Dr. Venkatesh addressed attendees' questions, offering tailored advice for their research projects. The talk was well-received, providing participants with practical insights and a robust framework for conducting impactful research.
